MAYSVILLE SURPRISE STORE

Galanty & Alper.

The Maysville Surprise Store, of which M. Galanty and S. Alper are the proprietors, gained its name from the fact that many surprises are in store for the purchaser in the way of low prices, which never interfere, however, with the quality of their goods, which is guaranteed as of one kind only, "The Very Best."

Galanty & Alper carry a very complete assortment of clothing for men, youths, and boys, hats, shoes, and gentlemen's furnishings, and are agents here for the celebrated "Milton Ochs" clothing.

MILTON OCHS CLOTHES

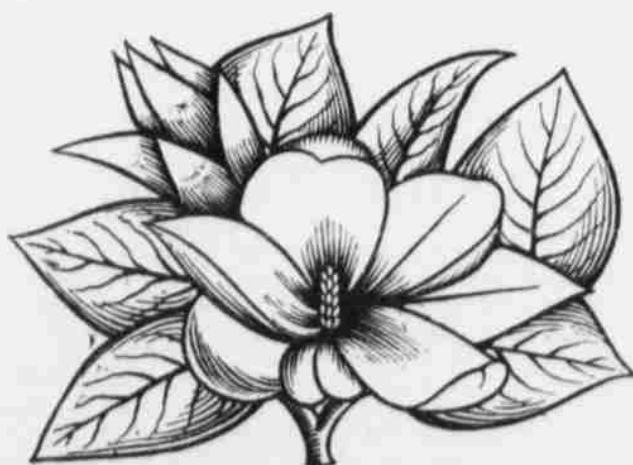

Ochs' clothing for men, which are acknowledged to have no superior on the market for style, fit and quality. They also handle "Stetson" and "Liberty" hats, and "Marshall" shoes.

Their spring styles are now on exhibition, and if one cannot be satisfied with the handsome assortment they show, they are indeed hard to please, for every variety is shown, from the ultra-fashionable, for the young man,

MAGNOLIA FLOUR MILLS

Merchant Millers.

The Magnolia Flour Mills was established in 1889, R. A. Carr, being the proprietor. It has always done a very successful business as the quality of the flour made gave general satisfaction. Unfortunately a fire, some months ago, stopped operations, as the interior of the mills was practically rendered useless. This is now under course of reconstruction and a new mill will be the result. It is being equipped with the latest improved Barnard & Leas Manufacturing Co. Milling Machinery, with modern elevators in connection, and will have the very latest improved methods for the handling of grain. The elevator storage capacity, including a thirty thousand bushel steel storage tank, will be fifty thousand bushels of grain, with ample storage space for flour, feed, etc., and will have its water and

OMAR DODSON

Wholesale Grocer.

This is one of the oldest established houses in its line in Kentucky, and are wholesale dealers in Groceries, Liquors and Seeds. They are sole agents for Northeastern Kentucky for Osborne Cream Flour, sole agent in Mason county for the Celebrated American Wire Fence, and large dealers in Lehigh Portland Cement.

The Wholesale Grocery, Liquor and Seed establishment of Omar Dodson is 7, 9, and 11 East Second street.

to the sedate styles and colorings for those more advanced in years, and who are looking for comfort more than style. Their general line includes everything needed for men, youths and boys, and they can dress you from head to foot in a manner that will not only please yourself but your friends as well.

The Maysville Surprise Store of Galanty & Alper is at 128 Market street, between Second and Front streets.

POYNTZ BROS. CO.

Distillers.

A great many first class distilleries through the quality of their individual product have made a world-wide reputation for the State of Kentucky as the greatest whisky-producing center in the world. Among such firms we find the Poyntz Bros. Co. Distillery at Maysville, whose famous rye and bourbon whiskies are universally recognized as products of the highest quality. The business was established in 1886 by Samuel B. Poyntz & Sons.

In connection, yet separate from the distillery, and under the firm name of Poyntz Bros., is conducted a wholesale liquor house at 126 Market street.

MAYSVILLE BRICK CO.

High Class Brick.

A concern that adds in an important degree to the push and enterprise of our city is that of the Maysville Brick Company. This company was established in 1894 and has continued to grow and expand from year to year, ever increasing the result of their operations, until today they employ fifty experienced men and ship their product throughout Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia. They are manufacturers of a special quality of building, tunnel and sewer brick, and turn out 40,000 daily. The brick manufactured by this Company has gained a high reputation wherever used, and has made Maysville famous. The plant is located on the C. & O. Railroad and the Company load cars right on their own property. The Maysville Brick Company is incorporated, with A. C. Sphar, President, who is also President of the Sphar Pressed Brick Works, and William H. Hall, Secretary and Treasurer. Throughout its career this company has been noted for its unusual enterprise, broad liberality, enlightened policy and honorable methods, and its great success has been largely due to those excellent cardinal principles.

electrical plants. It is expected to be completed and in running order by May 1, 1910, when the public will be invited to inspect this new mill. The capacity of the mill will be one hundred barrels of flour and fifty barrels of meal daily, in addition to which will be the grinding of feed and merchant milling of all kinds. They are always in the market to buy wheat, corn and grain of all kinds, for which the highest price is paid.

Their leading brands of flour are Magnolia, Limestone, and Ideal, all three of which are known to the frugal house wife as flour with exceptional baking qualities.

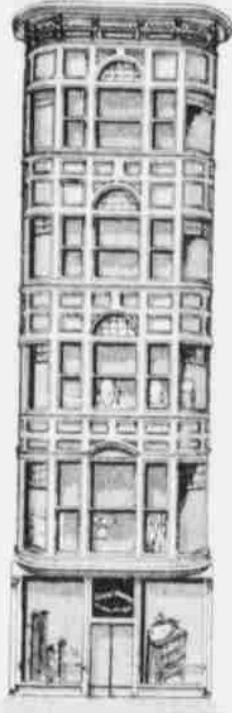

The business is not only local, but covers the Ohio Valley, and West Virginia. A competent and experienced miller will be in charge.

The Magnolia Mills is a home industry, deserving, and worthy of home patronage, for aside from personal pride in home industries the flour is the peer of any on the market.

THE WHITE PALACE

Brisbois & Diener.

This well known furniture business was established many years ago, and in November, 1908, John Brisbois and A. F. Diener, under the firm name of Brisbois & Diener, purchased it, and from the date of purchase the business has not only been successful, but has increased steadily from month to month, until now their goods are sold not only in Maysville, but throughout Mason, Lewis, Fleming, Bracken and Robertson counties, Kentucky, and Brown county, Ohio. They are undoubtedly the largest and most progressive furniture houses in Northeastern Kentucky, and carry an immense assortment of furniture of every description, from the common wooden kitchen table to fine leather and upholstered goods. They also handle sewing machines, talking machines, pianos, and organs, their leading piano being the "Ebersole," and the organ the "Kimball." They also carry a fine assortment of "Victor" and Victor-Victrola talking machines and a full line of records and "Red Seal" records. Their goods are sold for cash or on easy payments.

The White Palace is a building of five stories, 26x100 feet in area, and contains ten thousand square feet of floor space; this is practically packed with an assortment of furniture rarely to be met with except in very large cities. There is an old adage which says, "There is no place like home," and the truth of this can certainly be verified if Brisbois & Diener of The White Palace furnish that home. Their office and show rooms are at 402 West Second street.

DAN COHEN

Everything in Footwear.

Dan Cohen owns and conducts chain of retail shoe stores located in many of the large cities of the central States, with enormous outputs, his wholesale establishment being located at the corner of Pearl and Vine streets, Cincinnati, Ohio, and is his distributing point, and has practically no competition in the shoe markets of the world, and the manufacturers who have big lots of goods to dispose of always keep in touch with him, and he is in consequence in a position to purchase at the very lowest prices, which saving he always gives his customers the benefit of. He has recently erected a large block of stores in Covington, Ky., one of the finest in the country.

His Maysville store was opened to the public eight years ago, and in a short time the popularity of the store was demonstrated by larger quarters becoming necessary in order to accommodate the rapidly increasing trade. Today he occupies one of the largest business rooms in the city, which is completely stocked with everything in footwear for men, women and children, and the farmers' attention is particularly called to "Means' Dry Feet" shoes, which are guaranteed to keep the feet dry under all conditions and circumstances.

W. H. Means, who has been the manager of the Dan Cohen store here since its opening, is an old and experienced shoe man. He traveled in the wholesale shoe business for 20 years, and has been in the retail business eighteen years. His assistant manager is Jim Egnew, another experienced shoe man, and who has been with W. H. Means for twenty-one years.

The Maysville store of Dan Cohen is at 51 West Second street.

RUSSELL BROOM FACTORY

Broom Manufacturers.

A concern we wish to call special attention to on account of its rapid progress is that of the Russell Broom Factory, which was established July 6th, 1907, and from the very day of its inception has been a success. It is owned by J. Barbour Russell.

The plant is equipped throughout with the latest improved machinery, all of which is run by electric power.

A very superior grade of brooms is made, and the product is shipped throughout Tennessee, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, the volume of business increasing very rapidly, orders being always one month in advance. M. C. Russell Company, of which Barbour Russell is the General Manager is the distributor.

THE MAYSVILLE FOUNDRY

And Engineering Company.

This was established under the name of the Maysville Foundry and Engineering Company December 13th, 1907, although it has been operated under different names as a foundry for the past 75 years. The Maysville Foundry and Engineering Company are founders, machinists and engineers and give employment to over fifty men. The plant is modern in every detail and recently installed an entirely new equipment, new blowers, cupolas, etc. All machinery is driven by individual electric motors, and the capacity of the plant is 45,000 pounds of castings daily. The company are making a specialty of the cast iron sectional culvert pipe, which can be had in any size ranging from 8 inches to 48 inches in diameter. This product has given the utmost satisfaction and is highly spoken of wherever used, and the sales are constantly increasing in volume. The Company sells this pipe all over the United States. They enjoy the very best of shipping facilities, being located on the L. and N. and C. and O., and also ship by river. Their shipments amount to several carloads each week, and each carload will have at least one casting, the weight of which is from 8,000 to 10,000 pounds.

The Company also do local repair work in the machine department, and they carry a large stock of machinists' and plumbers' supplies, such as fittings, valves, bolts, etc. The officers of the Company are E. P. Browning, President; J. W. Fitzgerald, Vice President; S. P. Browning, Secretary, and J. K. Browning, Treasurer.

MAYSVILLE STREET RAILROAD AND TRANSFER CO.

An edition of this character would be incomplete without mention of an enterprise that has, perhaps, done more toward making Maysville the up-to-date, metropolitan city it now is, than any other we can name. We refer to the Maysville Street Railroad and Transfer Company. This company operates four miles of track extending from the Western limits of the city to the brickyards in the East end. Cars are run on a short time schedule and the best possible service is given. During the summer months the company run open cars, the seating capacity of which is fifty passengers, while the closed cars used in the winter can accommodate thirty people. The rolling stock is the best, the entire equipment being modern in every way. Each summer the company open up Beechwood Park, and it is here that the people of Maysville derive much pleasure and recreation. That the people of Maysville appreciate the efforts of this company to give them satisfactory service is evident.

The fare is five cents, six tickets for twenty-five cents, and regular riders and commuters can arrange so that the fare is reduced to three cents, a price not attempted in even the largest cities.

M. C. RUSSELL CO.

Wholesale Grocers.

This business was established by M. C. Russell, who was born in this city in 1844, and at the age of 15 entered the grocery store of John Richeson as clerk, continuing with him until 1864, when he entered the employ of D. A. Richardson, in the wholesale grocery, liquor and seed business. In 1881 he purchased an interest in the business, and five years later assumed entire control of it. In 1890 his eldest son, J. Barbour Russell, entered the firm, and the business was known as M. C. Russell & Son. Since the death of M. C. Russell, the firm title has been the M. C. Russell Co. The Company are wholesale grocers, liquor dealers and seedmen, and handle Grand Old and other leading brands of whiskies, and also carry a full line of wines, skins and brandies of the highest grade.

Their business on the road is cared for by an efficient corps of traveling salesmen and an immense business is done annually.

The Company occupies five floors of 57 1/2 x 87 feet, it being the largest mercantile building in the city. They also occupy two warehouses and carry a very large stock of everything usually found in a first-class establishment of this kind.

CHARLES W. TRAXEL & CO.

Fine Jewelry.

This well known and popular jewelry business was established many years ago, and was purchased by the present proprietor, Charles W. Traxel, in February, 1909. He was born and educated in Maysville.

In his large and finely appointed store he carries a handsome assortment of diamonds, precious stones, watches, rings, lockets, clocks, silver ware, art, and hand painted china, cut glass and novelties. His stock of watches is large, and consists of such well known makes as Elgin, Waltham, Howard and the celebrated South Bend watches, he being the agent here for the last named watch. In connection with the jewelry business he conducts a first-class optical department, where can be found a very complete assortment of optical goods.

Jewelry repairing of all descriptions is done, and a specialty is made of the proper and scientific adjustment of fine watches. With a completely stocked store of this kind in our midst, it is absolutely useless to go out of the city to purchase jewelry of any kind. The store of Charles W. Traxel & Co. is at 9 West Second street.

MAYSVILLE MFG. CO.

Sash, Doors, Store Fixtures.

One of the most prominent industries in this city is the Maysville Manufacturing Company, established in 1884. This company manufactures sash, doors, blinds, moldings, mantels, brackets, and inside shutters, and do all kinds of wood turning, scroll sawing, and general mill work to order. Stair building, store and office fixtures, and hardwood work are their specialties, and many of the finest homes and business buildings and offices in Maysville and the surrounding country may be used as an existing proof of the superior quality of any work produced by this concern. The business since its inception has continued to grow and thrive and today the Company ships its products throughout the surrounding country within a radius of a hundred miles.

This company supplied the finishing material for the new Catholic Church, it being of the highest grade and equal to, if not superior to that of any church in the state.

The mill is under the personal supervision of L. M. Mills, well known as one of the most practical men in the wood-working trade, and it is largely to his business ability, and the excellence of their product that the Company owe their success.

The business is under the management of J. Barbour Russell, who is assisted by his brother, Thomas M. Russell, while W. A. Marshall is the bookkeeper, and to use Mr. Russell's own expression "the most faithful in the world." The Company has done its share toward the upbuilding of Maysville, while those at its head are public spirited to a large degree.

THOMAS A. DAVIS

Everything in Printing.

In 1867, under not the most auspicious circumstances, Thomas A. Davis started a Republican paper, founding The Maysville Republican; in 1892 he established The Daily Public Ledger, which in January, 1907, he sold to Arthur F. Curran. Thomas A. Davis was born in Maysville, Ky., in 1840. At the age of fifteen he learned the printer's trade in Louisville, and was engaged in the business there two years. In 1858 he went to Washington, where he was employed on The Congressional Globe, afterward going to Philadelphia, and for two years had charge of the city printing there, and for one year of the State printing at Dover, Del. In April, 1861, he enlisted in the Union Army as Private in the Pennsylvania Reserves. Being discharged from service on account of disability, he went with the Army of the Potomac as war correspondent of The Philadelphia Inquirer, and after several months in that capacity he resigned and re-enlisted in the Twentieth Pennsylvania Cavalry, serving under General Sheridan until the close of the war, having won an Adjutant's commission. Returning to Maysville in 1866, he read law with the late Harrison Taylor, soon after engaging in the newspaper business. He was Postmaster of Maysville from 1891 to 1895, under President Harrison's administration, and in 1908 was appointed State Labor Inspector by Governor Willson, which position he resigned in May, 1909. Since he sold The Ledger, three years ago, he has devoted himself to his job printing establishment, of which he owns one of the best equipped offices in the State, and is prepared to print anything that can be printed.

Thomas A. Davis is a member of the Masons, Elks, Redmen, Knights of Pythias, Oddfellows, Maccabees and the G. A. R.
